SAILOR WILSON HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY.

Supreme Court Adjourned Till Victims of the City of Paducah Wreck Testify at the Preliminary Hearing.

Survivors of the wreck of the steamer fended himself at the hearing. United States Commissioner Gray, after hearing the evidence, held Wilson in bond of $1,000. The case was transferred to the Illinois court, because the steamer sank near the Illinois shore.

Captain D. W. Kirkpatrick of the City of Paducah was the first witness. He told of the assistance rendered by Wilson in rescuing women from the steamer and rowing them down to Grand Tower. After Wilson returned the next day, the Captain accused him of appropriating several articles, and Wilson deried the charge. The following day, he said, Wilson left the steamer and came to St. Louis on the Gray Eagle.

steamer and came to St. Louis on the Grey Eagle.

Mys. Carrie Minnegerode of No. 3501 Hen-riettà street, who was rescued from the steamer by Captain Kirkpatrick and Wil-son, identified the telescope satchel brought to St. Louis by Wilson as the one she car-ried on the trp.

She identified a pair of gold garter buckles, a belt, hatpin and several small articles as property left by her in the steamer. Mra. Rose Allen of No. 3400 Eads avenue, who was also a passenger on the steamer, identi-fied a tooth brush and a cameo-pin as her property.

fied a tooth brush and a cameo-pin as her property.

Several pieces of jewelry found in Wilson's possession were identified by Charles R. Hettel, a jeweler at No. 719 Washington avenue, as having been shipped by him. Charles D. Blehle, a tailor, identified a suit of clothes found in Wilson's telescope as a suit shipped by him on the Paducals.

Wilson took the stand and said that every article found in his possession was taken from the river, and that when arrested he was on his way to the office of Captain Massengale, to return the articles and to receive salvage for them.

TO TAKE COLLECTION

Catholic Clergymen Have Hitherto Been Dependent on Fellow-Priests for Aid.

An order issued by Archbishop Kain that a collection be taken up in all the Catholio churches in the St. Louis diocese next Sun-day for the support of aged and inform priests, or those otherwise unable to per-form the functions of their office, has given rise to much discussion among the local clergy, some of whom have expressed dis-satisfaction at the condition which presatisfaction at the condition which pre-valls in regard to the mode of caring for disabled priests.

In Archibishop Kenrick's time the priests "infern fund," as it is called, was hept up

"infirm fund," as it is called, was hept up by voluntary contributions by the priests. By paying 35 a year a priest was estitled to draw on the fund if it became necessary. If he did not contribute he was not entitled to benefits.

When Archibishop Kain took charge he made it obligatory on all priests to become contributors to the infirm fund, and made the assessment 30 a year. In case of disability a priest is entitled to draw 300 a year.

Lately the number of inespacitated priests was increased, causing a heavy drain on the infirm fund. In the amouncement of the collection to be taken up next sunday it was stated that the fund, is new exhausted, with several months to go before the time of calling the next assessment from the priests.

What the priests complain of is that several priests are supported by the infirm fund who had charge of rich parished. The priests spent the best years of their lives in building up the parishes, secrificing their personal interests and saving nothing out of their allowance of 31,000 a year and, having become old and broken down, they have to be supported by their brother priests.
